The design creates a fan pattern performance whereby the canal walls are thoroughly washed with a stream of water (solution).

This device is perfect for practicing physicians and pediatricians who need immediate visibility of the tympanic membrane during an office visit. The tip is small enough to fit into an otoscope head and can be operated by any trained health professional.

The fan stream which sprays the solution into the area where wax, soluble or insoluble, is gently but firmly moved toward the canal exit. Pre-surgical cleaning is best accomplished with this method, and in a matter of seconds.
